

AN OFF YEAR IN POLITICS.
Few States in Which General Elections Will Be Held.

This is to be decided an off year in the political out-of-the-way states in the Union other than will hold state elections—Louisiana, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Virginia and Wisconsin. Iowa, Massachusetts, Ohio, Wisconsin and Virginia alone will elect full tickets. New York and both branches of the legislature and all the states will be represented at the constitutional convention. The other remaining eight states will choose judges or legislatures. Only three of these legislatures will elect United States Senators—a successor to James F. Wilson; Kentucky, a successor to Eppa Hunton, appointed to fill out the unexpired term left by the death of Senator Burwell. The others to be filled in these thirteen states, the terms of service and the names of the present incumbents are as follows:
